

Production Flowchart: Inputs

All the material is available in the storage areas and is ready as required by our procedures

Assemblies are ready for the finishing department. Painting of the product is considered to be a validated process because deficiencies may only be apparent after they have been delivered and before a salt spray test is completed.

